Organized, Efficient, Current, Relevant

A Full 9-1-1 Curriculum with 10 Units of Study

The Profession, Police Communications, Fire Communications, EMD, 911 Call Taking, Emergency Radio, E911, Crisis Intervention, Stress Management, Liability Concerns

Q. What Is a Desktop Academy?

A. A complete 10 Unit vocational college course beautifully organized and digitally packaged for you.

Q. Who developed this curriculum?

A. The course was designed by an Advisory Board of 911 Professionals using a DACUM Develop a Curriculum facilitated by a College Dean. CORE follows the 911 Manual.

Q. APCO Project 33 recommends a Job Task Analysis, is this the same?

A. A DACUM goes further as it defines the KSA or Knowledge, Skill and Attitude needed for success and the competency levels or how well. CORE covers KS and A learning.

Q. Don't we all do it different?

A. Desktop Academy offers a foundation of knowledge such as Best Practices. Many colleges, High Schools, academies and Comm Centers use this actual 9-1-1 academy modules exclusively for their training.

Q. Can I use this curriculum with my current training material?

A. Absolutely, you should use your material. The Power Points were designed to be customized. The games, 9-1-1 calls, tours are used as you decide.

Q. Are there outlines and objectives for the trainer/instructor?

A. Each of the 10 units offer full objectives and exercises and forms for the instructor.

I purchased the full curriculum when it was released last school year. As the creator of a high school level 9-1-1 Dispatch class, it was imperative to have materials that could withstand District and State requirements, while being flexible enough to adapt to an entry level class. This curriculum does!! The contents, from the articles to the activities, get to the heart of dispatching with a depth and breadth that sustains our two semester course. And the proof is in the job offers extended to those students who met the standards set by our city dispatch center — after completing my course — designed around this product. Now that's professional pride! Thanks, Sue Pivetta, for developing a useful product, and thanks to Terri, my service rep for all the follow up support.

Sincerely, Ragan E. Volk, Broadcast/Dispatch Instructor, Career Center Billings MT

More reasons you need the Desktop Academy! Have you ever wished you had all your training files and material in one organized place? Have you ever wanted to have all the important topics to Emergency Communications fully developed into folders and get some guidance on 'interesting and practical' skill building exercises for call taking and radio? Well, here you go! This product is a wonderful relief for anyone who educates or trains for the work of 9-1-1.

All and all (the Desktop Academy) is a nice machine, what I have seen so far I like, machine is easy to use, fairly intuitive and self contained. The pre-loaded software is perfect for the employee just starting off and will serve as an excellent refresher for the seasoned dispatcher. Combined with your other software products we now have an excellent training resource that is easily accessible 24/7. Thanks.

— Michael F. Curtin, Division Supervisor

I can't believe it! This 911 simulator has to be the best training device I have ever seen. It wasn't out of the box more than 20 minutes before we tried our very first scenario. It was a breeze to set up and the possibilities are endless. It...

Sue, thank you very much!!!! I was able to download both files and I will take a look at them and work them into the class for this semester. As always it is a pleasure working with you and your staff. Everyone is always responsive to my requests and are always very polite and helpful when I call in and place an order. Thanks again and take care.

NFPA STANDARDS for 9-1-1 enforces simulation as necessary for retention and employee confidence.

C.1.1 Background/Overview.

Training that involves actual workplace conditions is an element that ensures that the linkage between classroom knowledge and job performance skills is completed. In many processes, this linkage is created through the use of on-the-job training (OJT).

C.1.2 Elements.

Many visualize the procedure of placing a new employee with an experienced worker and allowing the new employee to watch over his or her shoulder to learn the job. Under these conditions, the process has only limited success at best. Often it leaves the employer and employee dissatisfied with the outcome. The employee feels apprehension from being overwhelmed with too many sensory stimuli of new duties and new people. It is a human characteristic to attempt to absorb the new environment, but it can be distracting from the task at hand. He or she might also feel apprehension about taking too long to become "productive."
